

both sides of buka pdf

Marn Grook or marngrook, from the Woiwurung language for "ball" or "game", is a collective name given the traditional Indigenous Australian football game played at gatherings and celebrations of sometimes more than 100 players. The indigenous ball game Woggabaliri, which is the subject of William Blandowski's Drawings of 1857, was a children's version of the adult game, and equates to the ...

